

UNSW Course Outline

LAWS3183 Australian Journal of Human Rights - 2024

Published on the 01 Oct 2024

General Course Information

Course Code : LAWS3183

Year : 2024

Term : Term 3

Teaching Period : T3

Is a multi-term course? : No

Faculty : Faculty of Law and Justice

Academic Unit : School of Global and Public Law

Delivery Mode : In Person

Delivery Format : Standard

Delivery Location : Kensington

Campus : Sydney

Study Level : Undergraduate

Units of Credit : 6

Useful Links

Handbook Class Timetable

Course Details & Outcomes

Course Description

The Australian Human Rights Institute breaks silos between academic research and real-world problems to progress human rights. We deliver interdisciplinary, applied research, empowering communities and educating the next generation of human rights leaders.

The Australian Journal of Human Rights (AJHR) is a publication of the Australian Human Rights Institute.

The AJHR is Australia's first peer reviewed journal devoted exclusively to human rights development in Australia, the Asia-Pacific region and internationally. The law journal aims to raise awareness of human rights issues in Australia and the Asia-Pacific region by providing a forum for scholarship and discussion.

The AJHR examines legal aspects of human rights, along with associated philosophical, historical, economic and political considerations, across a range of issues, including aboriginal ownership of land, racial discrimination and vilification, human rights in the criminal justice system, children's rights, homelessness, immigration, asylum and detention, corporate accountability, disability standards and free speech.

Program and Supervision

Interns will be Associate Editors of the journal, playing an active role in the production of one of the Institute's key publications. You will have the opportunity to develop your analytical, copyediting, proofing and writing skills, and form contacts with leading academics in the human rights field.

As an Associate Editor you will help facilitate the intake, review and publication of contributions to the journal. Amongst your tasks you will:

- Screen contributions to the journal
- Identify and liaise with potential reviewers
- Edit and proof articles, interviews, Current Perspectives pieces and book reviews
- Liaise with academics and members of the legal profession
- Undertake a range of other tasks connected with the production of the journal, as directed by the Editors.

All interns are also expected to produce a blog post (600-800 words) on a contemporary human rights issue of their choice, to be published on the Institute's website.

You will work under the supervision of the journal's Editor in Chief and Managing Editor.

The AJHR's Editorial Board is comprised of leading human rights academics at UNSW and other Australian universities: <https://www.humanrights.unsw.edu.au/research/australian-journal-human-rights>

Course Objectives

At the end of this course, students should have:

- developed an appreciation for the professional and personal responsibilities associated with the production of a human rights journal;
- improved their self-management skills by completing activities associated with the position – such as reviewing and editing articles and liaising with contributors and reviewers – to a high standard and within deadlines;
- demonstrated effective oral and written communication skills by successfully liaising with contributors in a persuasive and appropriate manner to meet publication deadlines; and improved their written communication skills by completing a blog on a contemporary human rights issue that will be published on the Institute's website.

Course Learning Outcomes

Course Learning Outcomes
CLO1 : Demonstrate self management by completing activities, such as editing articles and liaising with contributors, associated with the position to a high standard and within deadlines (PLO 12)
CLO2 : Demonstrate effective oral and written communication skills by successfully liaising with contributors in a persuasive and appropriate manner to meet publication deadlines (PLO 10)
CLO3 : Demonstrate effective written communication skills by editing contributed articles to a high standard and appropriately (PLO 6 & 10)

Course Learning Outcomes	Assessment Item
CLO1 : Demonstrate self management by completing activities, such as editing articles and liaising with contributors, associated with the position to a high standard and within deadlines (PLO 12)	• Successful Completion of the Editorship
CLO2 : Demonstrate effective oral and written communication skills by successfully liaising with contributors in a persuasive and appropriate manner to meet publication deadlines (PLO 10)	• Successful Completion of the Editorship
CLO3 : Demonstrate effective written communication skills by editing contributed articles to a high standard and appropriately (PLO 6 & 10)	• Successful Completion of the Editorship

Learning and Teaching Technologies

Moodle - Learning Management System | Microsoft Teams

Assessments

Assessment Structure

Assessment Item	Weight	Relevant Dates
Successful Completion of the Editorship Assessment Format: Individual	100%

Assessment Details

Successful Completion of the Editorship

Assessment Overview

A student may be deemed, on the recommendation of the Head of School and the Faculty Advisers to the Australian Journal of Human Rights, to have satisfactorily completed this course on the basis of work done as Student Editor for a specified number of issues of the Australian Journal of Human Rights.

Course Learning Outcomes

- CLO1 : Demonstrate self management by completing activities, such as editing articles and liaising with contributors, associated with the position to a high standard and within deadlines (PLO 12)
- CLO2 : Demonstrate effective oral and written communication skills by successfully liaising with contributors in a persuasive and appropriate manner to meet publication deadlines (PLO 10)
- CLO3 : Demonstrate effective written communication skills by editing contributed articles to a high standard and appropriately (PLO 6 & 10)

Detailed Assessment Description

Students will work with the Managing Editor to undertake editorial duties. Students will also work with one of the Editors-in-Chief to plan and write their own blog post on a human rights issue of their choosing. This blog post is required to be completed by the end of term, and will be considered for publication on the Australian Human Rights Institute's student page.

Assignment submission Turnitin type

This is not a Turnitin assignment

Generative AI Permission Level

Simple Editing Assistance

In completing this assessment, you are permitted to use standard editing and referencing functions in the software you use to complete your assessment. These functions are described below. You must not use any functions that generate or paraphrase passages of text or other media, whether based on your own work or not.

If your Convenor has concerns that your submission contains passages of AI-generated text or media, you may be asked to account for your work. If you are unable to satisfactorily demonstrate your understanding of your submission you may be referred to UNSW Conduct & Integrity Office for investigation for academic misconduct and possible penalties.

For more information on Generative AI and permitted use please see here.

General Assessment Information

For further information on generative AI use in the Faculty of Law & Justice, please review the section titled 'Academic Honesty and Plagiarism' under the 'Other Useful Information' tab.

Grading Basis

Satisfactory

Course Schedule

Attendance Requirements

Please see information about attendance requirements in Law & Justice Assessment Procedure and Student Information located in the Other Useful Information tab in the Academic Information field.

Please be advised there will be no classes on public holidays. If your class falls on a public holiday, alternative arrangements will be made by the course convenor to make up the missed class.

Staff Details

Position	Name	Email	Location	Phone	Availability	Equitable Learning Services Contact	Primary Contact
Convenor	Maree Higgins					No	Yes

Other Useful Information

Academic Information

Upon your enrolment at UNSW, you share responsibility with us for maintaining a safe, harmonious and tolerant University environment.

You are required to:

- Comply with the University's conditions of enrolment.
- Act responsibly, ethically, safely and with integrity.
- Observe standards of equity and respect in dealing with every member of the UNSW community.
- Engage in lawful behaviour.
- Use and care for University resources in a responsible and appropriate manner.
- Maintain the University's reputation and good standing.

For more information, visit the UNSW Student Code of Conduct Website.

UNSW Law & Justice Assessment Policy

It is essential that all students undertaking this course read and abide by the UNSW Law & Justice Assessment Policy & Student Information. This document includes information on Class Attendance, Late Work, Word Limits, Marking, Special Consideration, Workload, and Academic Misconduct & Plagiarism. More information can also be found at Assessment & Exam Information.

Information regarding Course Outlines are subject to change and students are advised to check updates. If there is a discrepancy between the information posted here and the handbook or the UNSW Law & Justice website, please contact Student Services via The Nucleus Hub for advice. UNSW Law & Justice reserves the right to discontinue or vary such courses or staff allocations at any time. If your course is not here, please visit Handbook for information.

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

As a student at UNSW you are expected to display academic integrity in your work and interactions. Where a student breaches the UNSW Student Code with respect to academic integrity, the University may take disciplinary action under the Student Misconduct Procedure. To assure academic integrity, you may be required to demonstrate reasoning, research and the process of constructing work submitted for assessment.

To assist you in understanding what academic integrity means, and how to ensure that you do comply with the UNSW Student Code, it is strongly recommended that you complete the Working with Academic Integrity module before submitting your first assessment task. It is a free, online self-paced Moodle module that should take about one hour to complete.

Generative AI

Using generative AI to conduct research or to organise your argument is not prohibited but is not encouraged. We note that the output from generative AI tools is often incorrect and almost always more superficial than is required to achieve a passing grade. Moreover, any substantive errors in the assessment, such as inappropriate references or incorrect statements, will be regarded negatively by the marker, just as they would if not generated by AI. You should limit your use of AI to simple editorial assistance, such as standard editing and referencing functions in word processing software in the creation of your submission. You must not use any functions that generate or paraphrase passages of text, whether based on your own work or not. If your marker or Turnitin identify the wrongful use of generative AI in the text of your assessment submission, including the use of paraphrasing software, your assessment may be referred to the Student Integrity team for investigation. Please go to the link for further information about referencing and acknowledging the use of artificial intelligence tools.

Prohibition on use of translation apps

With limited exceptions for language study, the course of study and assessment in Australian universities must be in English (Higher Education Standard Framework (Threshold Standards) 2021 1.5 6(c)).

In Law & Justice many classes have assessable class participation. This must be in English. Use of a translation device to assist with contributions to class discussion is not allowed. Marks for class participation may be reduced where use of translation devices is detected. Similar prohibitions apply to use of any other generative text app that is not specifically permitted by the class teacher. However, use of translation software to assist a student to understand material outside of class, or to assist with preparation for assessment is generally permitted.

Further considerations apply to LLB and JD students. International lawyers who seek to be admitted in NSW must satisfy an English proficiency test. That test is expressed as equivalent to IELTS scores of 7.0 -8.0 across the tests. It is assumed that UNSW graduates are at or above those levels of English proficiency. Use of translation apps can impede the attainment of that level of proficiency. Students should avoid behaviours that put them at risk of breach of legal requirements which can have significant consequences, including potential consequences for your admission as a lawyer.

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Before submitting assessment items all students must read and abide by the UNSW Law & Justice Assessment Policy & Student Information.

Special consideration

Special consideration is primarily intended to provide you with an extra opportunity to demonstrate the level of performance of which you are capable. To apply, and for further information, see Special Consideration on the UNSW Current Students page.

Feedback

UNSW Law & Justice appreciates the need for students to have feedback on their progress prior to the last date for withdrawal without failure. All courses will therefore provide feedback to students prior to this date, as well as throughout the course. However, students should note that feedback does not take the form only of formal grades and written comments on written assessments. Rather, formative feedback, which helps students to self-assess, to identify misunderstandings, and to identify areas requiring further work, will occur during class and possibly online. For example, where a teacher asks the class a question, all students should think about how they might answer. Even though not all students will necessarily be able to respond orally, everyone can reflect on their tentative answer in light of the teacher's response and subsequent class discussion. If you are struggling to understand what is being asked in class, or if your tentative answers prove incorrect and subsequent discussion does not clear things up, then you should continue to ask questions (of yourself, your peers or your teacher). Similarly, you can get a sense of your ability in a course through peer feedback during group work, your teacher's responses to your in-class contributions, and your own response to in-class problems and examples (whether or not you are called on to relay your answer to the class) and also your online activities and responses by others to those activities. Students enrolled in this course may check their Moodle course page for details on the specific feedback used in this course.

Faculty-specific Information

Additional support for students

- Student support: <https://www.student.unsw.edu.au/support>
- Academic Skills and Support: <https://student.unsw.edu.au/academic-skills>
- Student Wellbeing, Health and Safety: <https://student.unsw.edu.au/wellbeing>
- Equitable Learning Services: <https://student.unsw.edu.au/els>
- UNSW IT Service Centre: <https://www.myit.unsw.edu.au>

Course improvement

Student feedback is very important to continual course improvement. This is demonstrated within the Faculty of Law & Justice by the implementation of the UNSW online student survey myExperience, which allows students to evaluate their learning experiences in an anonymous way. myExperience survey reports are produced from each survey. They are released to staff after all student assessment results are finalised and released to students. Course convenors will use the feedback to make ongoing improvements to the course. Students enrolled in this course may check their Moodle course page for details on the actions taken in response to evaluation feedback in Student Survey.

School Contact Information

Please contact Nucleus Student Hub for all enquiries. The Nucleus acts as a central communications hub for UNSW and will distribute your enquiry to the best person to respond.